A particular strength of this proposal is the large number of healthcare professionals – key personnel and partners – devoting pro-bono time and resources to the success of this project and the training of the psychology graduate students. Fortunately, the staff members at GSU and CHOA on this proposal have similar needs and training goals as well as long-standing professional collaborative relationships dating from 1991 and through the 2010-2014 and the 2014-current GPE projects. The success of the current GPE project has fueled enthusiasm by all prior as well as several new partners for the current proposal.
